Scenario

Building on our project design and management experience, we aim at building the capacities of GWMH stakeholders to carry out their social initiatives by providing them with the needed skills to design and write EU-funded projects proposals.

Tree and GWMH organise together this training.

We make individuals & organisations autonomous. We also strengthen their competences, their social impact and their financial viability.

The Erasmus+ funding programme is the framework for our training.

Our Approach

1. Mentoring

Our professionals have a robust experience in designing and writing social projects, hence, they know the challenges of a project development. This enables them to coach the participants in their learning process. Tailored mentoring is key for the success of the training. We only allow 5/6 people per training no less, no more

2. Empowerment

Capacitating the participants to acquire the skills needed for designing and writing a concrete project, thereby making them autonomous for future projects

3. Validation

The participants will be called to design a project (the project concept of 2 pages), which will allow them to verify the soundness of their ideas and ability to approach potential project partners. Then they will create the project abstract of 10 pages (workplan, indicators, partners, budget).
